FALL WORKS: WHISPERS, ECHOES, VOICES

Jiří Kylián's Petite Mort wields fencing foils and fabric reflecting the delicate balance between vulnerability and strength while capturing the essence of life's nature to the melody of Mozart. Crystal Pite's Solo Echo sweeps through like a winter wind, its poetry etched in motion. Mthuthuzeli November's world premiere As I Am breathes life into ancestral voices, honoring the past, embracing the strength of the future, and the quiet freedom of truly arriving as oneself.

Friday, December 5 | 2 PM | Belk Theater
NUTCRACKER

Jean-Pierre Bonnefoux's breathtaking choreography captures the wonder of childhood, and the beauty of a dream brought to life. A feast for the senses and the soul, Nutcracker will sweep you away in its spell, filling hearts with joy and memories to cherish.

WINTER WORKS: BOUNDLESS

Ohad Naharin's Kamuyot pulses with immersive energy-playful yet primal-dissolving the distance between dancer and audience and weaving an unspoken dialogue of movement and connection. Nicole Vaughan-Diaz's world premiere unfolds as a fearless exploration of the unseen. The North Carolina-based choreographer's works move like a current-bold, unrelenting, and deeply human.

Thursday, May 7 | 2 PM | Knight Theater
ONE THOUSAND PIECES

Like light refracted through stained glass, Alejandro Cerrudo's One Thousand Pieces shimmers between clarity and mystery, reforming in a mesmerizing dance of unity. To the music of Philip Glass and inspired by the visions of Marc Chagall's America Windows, this dreamscape unfolds- fluid and ever-shifting, a reflection on art and love. Radiant water hues become a fleeting reflection of something greater, shaping expressions of transformation and the endless mosaic of human connection.
